How to Detect the Alum Baking Powder

"Which are the alum baking powders; how can I avoid them unless they are named?" asks a housekeeper.

Here is one way: take the can of a low-priced powder in your hand and read the ingredient clause upon the back label. The law requires that if the powder contains alum that fact must be there stated. If you find one of the ingredients named alum, or sulphate of aluminum, you have found an alum baking powder.

There is another and a better way. You don't have to know the names of the alum powders. Use Royal Baking Powder only; that assures you a cream of tartar powder, and the purest and most healthful baking powder beyond question.

"JOSEPH AND HIS BRETHREN"

At The Lexington Opera House.

By far the biggest thing which comes to Lexington will be the splendid pageant drama, "Joseph and His Brethren," at the Lexington Opera House for three nights, April 13, 14 and 15, with matinee Wednesday 15th.

This marvelous production is the third and greatest of the colossal Liebler Company's spectacles from the Century Theatre, New York, the companion play to "The Garden of Allah" and "The Daughter of Heaven."

"Joseph and His Brethren" is universally conceded to be the most magnificent theatrical show given in America. In London it is now being done by an English company headed by Sir Beer-bohm Tree and Miss Maxine Elliott, but next week Lexington gets the original New York production with its world of scenery and effects and the same superb cast of principals which played the piece there all last winter. There are four acts, eleven massive scenes, and a small army of two hundred and fifty people concerned in the play. Brandon Tynan plays Jacob; that splendid stage veteran, James O'Neill, Joseph; and the most beautiful woman on the American stage, Pauline Frederick, the role of Potiphar's wife. Other notable actors in the cast are W. T. Carleton, Henry Harmon, Charles D. Herman, Rosina Henley, dramatist E. E. Rose's clever daughter, Ruth Rose, and five score more of the favorites who delighted New York audiences for six months.

The story is told in the sonorous classical English of the Bible itself. The author is Louis N. Parker, the most famous playwright of the present day, who has given the contemporary stage John Drew's "Rosemary," George Arliss' "Disraeli," "Pomander Walk," "Drake," etc. The scenery is beyond all description. So massive, beautiful and intricate is it that a force of one hundred men are necessary for its handling. There are herds of camels, oxen, asses, goats, horses and sheep. There is a ballet corps of twenty-four dancers in the wonderful palace scene in Pharaoh's court. In a word, "Joseph and His Brethren" is the last word in stagecraft and spectacular drama. During its engagement here the evening performance will begin at 8 o'clock sharp, and the matinees at 2 p. m. Seats may be ordered by mail if remittance is enclosed, together with a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Prices 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50 and $2.00. CHAS. SCOTT, Manager.

Hon. R. Tate Irvine for Congress.

Hon. R. Tate Irvine, a student some years ago at Central University, this city, now a leading attorney of Big Stone Gap, Va., has been nominated for Congress to succeed the present incumbent, Hon. C. Bascomb Siemp, Republican. Mr. Irvine has many friends here who wish him success, and believe he can be elected despite the fact that his district is strongly Republican. Mr. Irvine is a fine lawyer and a man of commanding personality, as well as high-toned gentleman.

Lancaster Merchant Assigns.

H. T. Logan, of Lancaster, filed a deed of assignment last week for the benefit of his creditors, naming the Garrard Bank & Trust Company as assignee. He conducted a men's furnishings and shoe store. Bad collections are given as the cause of the assignment. Mr. Logan served for two years as Mayor of Lancaster, retiring on January 1.

Attention, Subscribers!

Most readers of newspapers and many publishers are not familiar with the laws governing subscriptions. Here are the decisions of the United States court on the subject. They will be interesting to publishers and many will undoubtedly be glad of the opportunity to print them for the benefit of delinquent subscribers: "Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to renew their subscriptions."

"If the subscribers order a discontinuance of their publication, the publisher may continue to send them until all dues are paid."

"If the subscriber refuses to take periodicals from the postoffice to which they are directed, he is responsible until he has settled his bill and ordered the paper discontinued."

"If subscribers move to other places without informing the publisher and the papers are sent to former address, the subscriber is held responsible."

"The courts have held that refusing to take periodicals from the postoffice or removing and leaving them uncalled for is prima facie evidence of intention to defraud."

"If any subscribers pay in advance, they are bound to give notice at the end of the time if they do not wish to continue taking it, otherwise the subscriber is responsible until express notice with payment of all arrearage is sent to the publisher."

An Alarm Clock Servant

A resident of California has rigged up an alarm clock so that it calls him at the proper time in the morning, lights a lamp in his bedroom so he can see to dress and at the same time starts breakfast.

When the alarm clock sounds its early morning call, it throws a switch located at the back of the clock cabinet connecting four electric circuits. One of these circuits lights a small lamp which effectively illuminates the bedroom. To the other circuits are connected toaster, coffee percolator and electric grill. Coffee and water are put in the percolator the night before, and the bread arranged in the toaster and the bacon placed on the grill. By the time the owner is dressed breakfast is ready.

Your Hair Needs Parisian Sage

It Quickly Removes Dandruff

Just because your hair is full of dandruff, thin, streaky, dull and never will do up to look pretty, do not despair. Beautiful hair, thick, fluffy, lustrous and absolutely free from dandruff is only a matter of care.

Parisian Sage frequently applied will work wonders. Just one application stops itching head, removes dandruff and all excessive oil. It goes right to the hair roots and furnishes the nourishment needed—the hair becomes soft, fluffy, abundant and radiant with life.

Parisian Sage not only saves the hair, but stimulates it to grow long and heavy. Get a 50 cent bottle from H. L. Perry's Drug Store at once. There is no other "Just as good."

A Kentucky Hall of Fame.

Under the provisions of a resolution passed by the recent Legislature accepting a proposition of the Bronze Memorial Company, of Chicago, to furnish 100 steel engravings of famous Kentuckians, to be hung in the Kentucky Gallery of Honor, the Capitol Commission has decided upon 11 noted Kentuckians whose pictures will be sent to the memorial company. They are W. N. Haldeman, W. C. P. Breckinridge, John Breckinridge, John L. Helm, Dr. Ephraim McDowell, Rev. John C. Young, John G. Carlisle, General William Preston, John J. Crittenden, Boyd Winchester and Charles A. Wickliffe.

SEEN IN THE SOUTH.

New Day Dawning Below Mason and Dixon Line.

(New York World)
If anybody ever wants to fight a third battle of Bull Run, the trip from Washington to Manassas Junction can be made by trolley. Bull Run was bubbling even with its banks from the spring floods. A small stream with great fame.

Alexandria, where George Washington went to church, is getting out of its decay and becoming a smart suburb of Washington. New houses in new districts hide the ancient town.

The peaks behind Thomas F. Ryan's Virginia country-seat were white with snow yesterday morning. The drifts were still deep in the woods. The South has had a long winter.

The Confederate monument at Manassas is the ugliest ever. It seems rough to live and die for such a memorial.

Georgia is reveling in the illicit joys of a state-wide Prohibition law. The clubs thrive for the privileged, and "near-beer" is retailed to soothe the populace. Jacksonville, handsomely situated near the Georgia border of Florida, holds out a comforting, if uncertain, hand. It has taken over the "last Georgia Sunshine Whisky" that will ever be offered for sale, and tenders the limited remainder to Atlanta, 12 full quarts for $10.50.

The mule continues to be the South's most industrious denizen. Atlanta is a mule center. The mule buyers support a big hotel at the stock yards.

Gaffney is the name of an important station on the Southern Road in South Carolina. Suggested thoughts of home and Jim.

Atlanta is in a county with 300 miles of good roads that are really good. Six hundred State convicts built.

The Southern cities are all stretching their joints. Birmingham thinks it is to become a 500,000 town, and Jacksonville is planning for the same dimensions. Alexandria advertises six railroads and five steamship lines.

Conference Call To Kentucky Ministers.

A call to ministers of Kentucky to attend a conference on rural church problems in connection with the Southern Educational Conferences to be held in Louisville next month, was issued Tuesday by the Kentucky Committee appointed by A. G. Borland, general secretary of the movement. Signed by the twenty-two members who are prominent throughout the State, it follows:

"To the Ministers of Kentucky in connection with the great rural life conference to be held in Louisville, April 7 to 10, there will be a conference on the rural church problems. This conference will be held in the Methodist Temple, Sixth street and Broadway, Louisville, and will be in the nature of an informal discussion of the important problems confronting the country churches. Men who have made a special study of certain aspects of the country church will be present to give the benefit of their counsel and information. President D. H. Hill, of the North Carolina College of Agriculture, will discuss the pastor's relation to agriculture. The Rev. J. J. Cole, of Jeffersonville, Ky., who has been especially successful in developing a country Sunday school, will preside at the sessions devoted to the consideration of the Sunday school as a vital force in the community. Prof. C. S. Gardner, of the Southern Baptist Seminary, is expected to preside over the session devoted to considering the best methods of developing intellectual and moral life. The closing session will be a symposium of conclusions as formative of a practical program for making the rural church a greater factor in country life development. The railroads have granted a rate of one fare plus 25 cents. Every rural pastor who can possibly do so ought to attend this conference."

A BUSINESS MAN OF MINNEAPOLIS

MR. E. M. TAYLOR.
No. 250 Nicollet St., Minneapolis, Minn.
"To-day I am in excellent health. Never felt better in my life. I am glad of this opportunity to say something to all men or women who suffer from dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I consider Peruna a great remedy. It is a godsend."
• A new book of interest to all, sick or well, sent free by the Peruna Company.

Minneapolis is a city where they do things. Stimulated by a vigorous climate, surrounded by a fertile country, peopled by the best blood of the over crowded east, it is a city of hustle, of great achievements conceived and wrought out.

Mr. Taylor, of Minneapolis, Minn., is one of this sort of men. A newspaper man. A political worker. An Englishman by birth. He has been in this country nineteen years. He has resided in the northwest, Winnipeg, Fargo, and for the last ten years in Minneapolis.

Mr. Taylor is a friend of Peruna and does not conceal his friendship. He is thoroughly enthused with the belief that Peruna is a great remedy. He has a right to feel so. For several years he suffered with dyspepsia. This caused him to have very bad health.

Newspaper advertisements would never have influenced him to take Peruna. It was friends that persuaded him to try the remedy. In less than a week he needed no more persuasion. He saw that Peruna was doing him good. He is able to send a letter to the Peruna Company, Columbus, Ohio:

"To-day I am in excellent health. Never felt better in my life. I am glad of this opportunity to say something to all men or women who suffer from dyspepsia and stomach trouble. I consider Peruna a great remedy. It is a godsend."

Parcel Post Efficiency.

To add to the popularity of the parcel post, Postmaster General Burleson has signed an order which will permit the attaching of a letter to a package when both bear their respective rates of postage and are addressed to the same individual.

Coloring Diamonds.

Rich women had better be careful in the near future about buying straw-colored diamonds, pink diamonds and such-like fancy stones, for the artificial coloring trick has been revived of late in Paris, where there have been several convictions in the courts.

Benvenuto Cellini—so hoary is the dodge—tells how to color a white diamond in his memoirs. As everybody knows, a blue or rose diamond, if perfect, is worth several times as much as a white one. Thus by means of an easy trick, a swindler can increase a diamond's value $5,000 or $10,000.

The fake rose or the fake blue diamond looks as fine as if it were real, but its color fades away in a year or two.

Stomach Trouble Cured.

Mrs. H. G. Cleveland, Arnold, Pa., writes: "For some time I suffered from stomach trouble. I would have sour stomach and feel bloated after eating. Nothing benefited me until I got Chamberlain's Tablets. After taking two bottles of them I was cured." For sale by all dealers.

Electric Blocks on L. & N.

The L. & N. railroad is installing between Cincinnati and Corbin the electric block system. The blocks work automatically by electricity and it is impossible for one train to enter a section while another train is in it. It will cost a great deal of money, but will prevent many accidents that might otherwise happen, destroying both life and property. The L. & N. is always up to date don't mind spending money to keep its system up to the highest standard of efficiency and the saving of life and property.

A Model Husband.

A model husband may be a day laborer who returns to his home at night with a hard earned dollar clasped tight in his tight in his honest hand, and adds it to the family fund to help provide necessary comforts for the family. He shares faithfully with his wife whatever he may earn by trade or profession. When business matters perplex he does not go home with a woe-filled tale of his hardships and turn the bright side of his character to his associates, but he comes into his home with a cheerful face that inspires his wife with new courage after a day of perplexing duties which women alone have to meet, and in their monotony becomes distasteful to the most of them.

The Parlor Dead Line.

An old Irishman named Casey made a lot of money as a contractor and built a fine house for his children. The sons and daughters were much ashamed of the plebeian father, and Casey was always kept in the rear of the house when they had a party or a reception. One day Casey died. There was a great do about it. The children had a fine coffin, with lashings of flowers, and Casey was laid in state in the parlor. That evening an old Irish woman who had known Casey when he was a laborer, came and asked to see the face of her dead friend. They conducted her to the parlor.

She walked up to the coffin, took a long look, and said: "Faith, Casey, an' they've let ye into th' parlor at last!"

Nothing So Good For a Cough or Cold.

When you have a cold you want the best medicine obtainable so as to get rid of it with the least possible delay. There are many who consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy unsurpassed. Mrs. J. Boroff, Elida, Ohio, says: "Ever since my daughter, Ruth, was cured of a severe cold and cough by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy two years ago, I have felt kindly disposed towards the manufacturers of that preparation. I know of nothing so quick to relieve a cough or cure a cold." For sale by all dealers.

A Novel Plan.

The problem of the married man who squanders his earnings on whisky while his wife sews and takes in washing to support the family has been considered from various angles by philanthropists, scholars, humanitarians and industrial economists, but probably the most unique solution advanced is the following somewhat cynical plan proposed by a Florida editor:

"To the married man who feels that he can't get along without the aid of drink, we would suggest the following: 'Start a saloon in your own home.'

"Be the only customer. You will have no license to pay. Go to your wife and give her $2 to buy a gallon of whisky and remember there are sixty-two drinks in one gallon.

"Buy your drinks from no one but your wife, and by the time the first gallon is gone she will have $8 to put in the bank and $2 to start business on again.

"Should you live ten years and continue to buy booze from her and then die with snakes in your boots she will have money enough to bury you, educate your children, buy a house and lot and marry a decent man and quit thinking about you."

GUEST ROOM MADE RESTFUL

One Hostess insists on Harmony in Color, Even to the Tint of the Soap Used.

A hostess who is noted for her congenial week end parties, which are given all through the summer at a delightful country house out on Long Island, makes a practice of picking up her guestroom soaps while in Paris on shopping bent early in May. There is something about the delicate, elusive fragrance of a French soap which no American made soap seems to emulate, and though, of course, the French varieties cost a good deal more, the distinction imparted to a guestroom in this manner is incontestable.

This particular hostess selects four kinds of soap, in four colors to harmonize with her various guestrooms, done in rose pink, pale green, pale buff and violet and rose. Blue this hostess debarb as too chilly and austere for a bed chamber. The four soaps selected are violet, rose clymen and verveine. The violet soap is in a beautiful shade of lavender, the rose soap in pink, the clymen in white and the verveine in delicate green. Each soap has the fragrance of the flower it typifies and on one side of the cake is stamped the name of the flower.

This hostess keeps also in each guestroom a dainty silk kimono and inexpensive, heelless kid boudoir slippers in the color of the room, so that the overnight or week-end guest who brings only a suitcase is provided with a pretty negligee for breakfast in her room.

DAINTY BONNETS FOR SPRING

Milliners Have Put Out Most Exquisite Designs Suitable for All Kinds of Faces.

When the spring girl goes to choose her spring hat she will be delighted, for all the little shapes are dainty and suitable for all kinds of faces.

The characteristics of spring hats are:

They are small, soft and flexible. There are many tan crowned hats, and these tams must be draped into the brim.

Scarcely any chip or hard straws are to be seen, and there are few black hats.

The newest colors for spring hats are morocco, tobacco, charmeuse, cucumber, gazelle and bishop's purple.

Very little trimming is required for the hats, and really good shapes will be obtainable for only a few shillings.

All-white hats will be the summer favorites, and many shady "coon"-shaped hats are made of grass bleached white.

The white hats are very fascinating and very simple in design, and need practically a minimum of trimming.

FASHION HINTS

The newest coats hang very loose and fall from the shoulders.

Challis is to be one of the fashionable materials for spring.

Popular in combination are antique blue and tobacco brown.

In the new serges the smartest colors are dust colors and navy blue.

Some new sashes are made of broad velvet, ribbon, moire or silk.

For evening, smart women are wearing the hair dressed high on the head.

There is a craze for the weird, spiky-like feathered trimming fantasies.

Shepherd's plaid is a material which will be extensively used this spring.

The flat-heeled shoes are not so popular; heels of exaggerated height will be worn.

New is the suggestion of the bustle in most of the new spring models.

Pretty collars, gumpes and chemisettes are made of net, in white or cream.

STRIKING SPRING HAT

Model of picot straw, trimmed with tulle and ostrich feathers.

FLORIDA GENEROUS TO VETERANS

Pays Out More Money to Sustain Old Soldiers

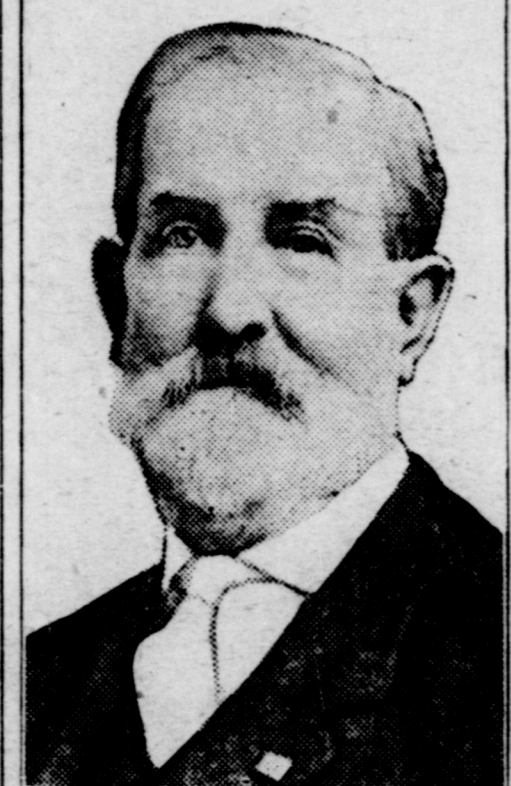

Than Any Other Southern State and Builds Monuments to Memory—Confederate Reunion May 6, 7, 8, at Jacksonville.

Jacksonville, Fla.—The State of Florida pays out more money per capita for the support of dependent ex-Confederate soldiers than any other Southern State. This fact should be sufficient to convince ex-Confederates everywhere that when they and their descendants visit Jacksonville on the occasion of the 24th annual reunion of the United Confederate Veterans' Association that they will be in the hands of their friends. The reunion will be held May 6, 7, 8.

The handsome total of $600,000 per annum is being paid by the state for support of ex-Confederate pensioners. The average yearly amount paid to each person on the pension list, according to the latest report of the State Board of Pensions, is $121.25, while the average paid to old soldiers is $122.30. "Widows of Confederate soldiers draw an average of $120 per annum. Since the report from which these figures are taken was made, the legislature has passed a still more liberal pension law, which will authorize additional payments of approximately $150,000 a year, making the total $750,000 per annum paid to Confederate pensioners by the state.

There are 2,633 soldier pensioners on the rolls of the state and 2,227 widows of Confederates, making a total of 4,860. The fund to support this pension roll is raised by a tax of four mills on the assessed property of the taxpayer.

Florida is not only caring for the living but the memory of the dead is also kept green. Throughout the state handsome Confederate monuments have been erected by both public and private means. All told there are twenty, or possibly more, handsome

Gen. W. H. Sebring Jacksonville, Fla., Adjutant General Florida Division United Confederate Veterans.

Confederate monuments in the state, and others are yet to be erected. A home for ex-Confederate soldiers is maintained at Jacksonville. Last year the state appropriated $5,000 to the Confederate soldiers' home in this city. Two Confederate monuments have been erected here, and a monument may be dedicated to the Women of the Confederacy during the coming reunion.

This brief exposition of the work that Florida is doing for the ex-Confederate soldiers, living and dead, is proof that the people of the state will extend a warm and generous welcome to the old soldiers and their friends on the occasion of the Jacksonville reunion. Florida, while situated far South of the great theater of war of 1861-'65, felt the shock of the conflict. Jacksonville was occupied four different times by the federals. The purposes of this occupancy, according to official reports on file in archives of the War Department, were to keep the St. Johns river open from its mouth to the head of navigation and to arm the negroes for service in the Union Army. The small Confederate force in East Florida in 1863 was commanded by Gen. Joseph Finegan. On March 13, 1863, Gen. Finegan issued a proclamation here in which he said:

"I feel it my duty as brigadier-general commanding this district to inform the people of the district and of the state that our unscrupulous enemy has landed a large force of negroes, under command of white officers, at Jacksonville, under cover of gunboats. He is attempting to fortify the place so as to make it secure against attacks. The purpose of this movement is obvious and need not be mentioned in direct terms. It is sufficient to inspire the whole body of people with a renewed and sterner purpose of resistance. I therefore call on such of the citizens as can possibly leave their homes to arm and organize themselves into companies without delay and report to me."

Gen. R. Saxton (U. S. A.) in a report to the War Department dated March 14, 1863, says: "The object of this expedition was to occupy Jacksonville and make it the base of operations for the arming of negroes and securing in this way possession of the entire State of Florida."

Model Housekeepers

We bestow as much care on our large stock of furniture as does the most fastidious housewife on hers. That is because, in addition to a natural desire to present a clean stock of goods for your inspection, and the pride we take in the fine articles of furniture we show, we hope to eventually place them in your homes in the same perfect condition in which we received them so that you may take pride in them also.

Got Missing Figures

THE General Manager was presenting plans for an extension of the factory to the company's directors at Detroit. He found that he had left an estimate sheet in his desk at the factory. He called up the factory on the Bell Long Distance Telephone. His assistant read the figures to him and the directors were able to act without delay.

Annoying delays are avoided by the use of the Bell Telephone.

COULD SCARCELY WALK ABOUT

And For Three Summers Mrs. Vincent Was Unable to Attend to Any of Her Housework.

Pleasant Hill, N. C.—"I suffered for three summers," writes Mrs. Walter Vincent, of this town, "and the third and last time, was my worst."

I had dreadful nervous headaches and prostration, and was scarcely able to walk about. Could not do any of my housework.

I also had dreadful pains in my back and sides and when one of those weak, sinking spells would come on me, I would have to give up and lie down, until it wore off.

I was certainly in a dreadful state of health, when I finally decided to try Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I firmly believe I would have died if I hadn't taken it.

After I began taking Cardui, I was greatly helped, and all three bottles relieved me entirely.

I fattened up, and grew so much stronger in three months, I felt like another person altogether."

Cardui is purely vegetable and gentle-acting. Its ingredients have a mild, tonic effect, on the womanly constitution.

Cardui makes for increased strength, improves the appetite, tones up the nervous system, and helps to make pale, sallow cheeks, fresh and rosy.

Cardui has helped more than a million weak women, during the past 50 years. It will surely do for you, what it has done for them. Try Cardui today.

Stepping Some.
The Cynthiana Democrat says few girls begin married life so auspiciously as Miss Eleanor Wilson, daughter of the President, when she weds Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo. She is 24 and he is 50 years old. When she marries she will become a wife, a step-mother, a step-grandmother and a step-mother-in-law. All of which is stepping some, to say nothing of the tango steps with which the lucky Secretary is said to have won her.

Not On The Map.
Mrs. Norman had a maid, Jane, who had a lover in the army. One day, after receiving a letter from him, she sought her mistress and asked if she might see a map. A while after she returned to Mrs. Norman again and said she could not find the place where her lover was. "Where is it, do you say, Jane?" asked the mistress. "Duranceville," replied Jane, after another careful perusal of the letter. Mrs. Norman searched the map, but no such place could be found. "Jane," she said, "please let me see the part of the letter which gives the name of the place where he is." Jane complied, and Mrs. Norman read: "I am in Duranceville, but hope soon to be sent home."—National Monthly.

Serum For The Treatment of Pneumonia Found.
Discovery of a specific serum for the treatment of lobar pneumonia was announced last week in New York by the Rockefeller Institute, for medical research. In a statement sent to physicians, the institute announces that it is prepared to treat patients suffering from the disease in acute form. Results of experiments indicate the efficiency of the discovery in lowering the mortality from this malady, the statement says: "The work of evolving the serum out of many experimental cultures was under the direction of Dr. Rufus Cole, medical director of the institute, and has been in progress for the past three years. For the preparation of the serum, a culture of the germs is prepared for injection into the blood of a healthy animal, the horse being used in this case. Coincidentally it was announced from Bellevue Hospital that pneumonia serum developed in its laboratories was recently used successfully upon a staphylococcus of that institution."

Beautifying The Farm Yard.
To Minnesota, pioneer in many campaigns for agricultural ascendance and rural betterment, other states must turn repeatedly for ideas and suggestions for the encouragement of the general well-being of the farmer and his family. It is well for agricultural exponents to keep an eye on that State, one of whose recent actions was to provide its people with plans and specifications for a model farm house. However, not content to stop there, Minnesota's State Art Commission has started in to secure complete plans and designs for the arranging, planting and beautifying of the State's farmyards.
Landscape architects have been invited to submit their sketches and ideas and prizes will be awarded for the most practical and acceptable designs. The designs are to be adapted to the model farm house plan selected a year ago, but they will be acceptable for all average farm residences. They are to provide a farmyard an acre in size, presumably upon a knoll facing the country road and will show the disposition of trees, shrubs, hardy flowers and vines.
The absorbing beauty of the country with its broad stretches of plain and woodland, its waving grain, its pastures dotted with beasts of the field, all beckoning the city sojourner back to the land, is a tradition old and true. Children of the farms turn their faces on woodland and pastureland, despite them, because of muddy, untidy farmyards. The old-fashioned flower gardens with their morning glories, hollyhocks, corn cobs, snapdragons and gladiolas, than which no dream of landscape artist can excel, are becoming rarer and rarer. The model farm yard is to take the place of untidy lots and those rare beauty spots of old which are now fast fading into pleasant memories.
Agricultural aids today are branching out from the mere practice of helping the farmer grow bigger crops and better crops. They are helping the farm wives, and they are going further. They are assisting the rural community life, but they are not stopping there. They are putting the little beauty touches upon the farm home and surroundings, encouraging good taste in decoration, and dedicating the farmyard to better and more hopeful living. Life is what we have to enjoy as well as what we may have to do. Then, when Minnesota adopts its model farm plans, it will be good for this and other states to apply similar methods to make the farm more worth while.

Forty Counties
Bear the Expense of Government in the State of Kentucky.
Eighty Pauper Counties.

There are one hundred and twenty counties in the State and eighty of them are pauper counties, that is they draw more out of the State Treasury than they pay in.

The following counties pay into the State Treasury the sums named over and above what it costs to maintain them:

Anderson	$ 556.65
Bath	1,833.14
Boyle	19,935.32
Bracken	2,703.78
Boone	22,423.30

A rare sight was witnessed recently in the heart of the city of Auburn, New York, when more than 1,000 wild ducks, driven by hunger from Owasco Lake, then completely frozen over, to take shelter on the Owasco river, were seen accepting food thrown to them from houses and factories that line the banks.
Mr. Huarry M. Rubey, of Macon, Mo., writes thus to Missouri stockmen: "I have made a business of horseback riding every day, rain or shine, warm or cold, for years, and as a result have not known what it was to be sick for thirty years. If every business man in this country would buy himself a good saddle horse and ride daily, one half of the doctors would go out of business. My daily average is ten miles."
The silo is the best barn on the farm. It holds forage of unsurpassed quality and quantity and it is always ready for feeding. It will pay for itself the first year and it is indispensable where ten or more head of cattle are kept. The feed in a silo will keep indefinitely. Silage is as food for summer when pastures are dry as it is in winter. It is good for horses, mules, cows and calves, dry cattle and sheep. Silage is green corn preserved for winter use, with all the juices retained. A silo makes corn stalks as valuable as the corn in the crib. A silo full of ensilage is worth more than a big barn full of hay.

A Hoosier Cabinet makes a Model Kitchen

Why Do 700,000 Women Own Hoosier Cabinets?
When you know that 700,000 women use Hoosier Kitchen Cabinets three times every day, doesn't it suggest to you that you need this drudgery-saver in YOUR kitchen?
Figure it out to yourself this way: Would they have bought these cabinets without convincing themselves that they SAVE MILES OF STEPS and hours of time? Would so many have bought them at all if users hadn't told others and thus influenced their friends to buy them?
Since this means that more Hoosier Cabinets have been sold than all other 128 makes of cabinets combined, isn't it proof enough that the Hoosier is the best cabinet on the market?
When you see how the Hoosier groups four cupboards around a large metal table and places 400 articles at your fingers' ends so you can sit down and work—AND REST while working—you'll want one of these "White Beauties."
Come pick one out today.

At the opening of Gov. McCreary's campaign at Winchester, Monday, Miss Mary Crutcher, daughter of Commonwealth's attorney, Hon. Ben A. Crutcher and an enthusiastic member of the Virginia Hanson Chapter of the Confederacy, presented him on behalf of that body a beautiful bouquet of flowers and in a clear and impressive manner spoke brief words about as follows:

Gov. McCreary: In behalf of Virginia Hanson Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy, I present you this bunch of flowers, as a faint token of the high regard and esteem in which you are held by our Chapter. We are proud of your record as a soldier, citizen and statesman. Your whole career has been marked by a conscientious discharge of your duty. The people of Ky. recognize your worth and an evidence of it will be made manifest by the large majority by which you will be returned to the Senate.

DEATHS

Died at his home at Waco, Tuesday evening, March 31, at 8:30 o'clock, Leland Maupin, familiarly known by his friends as Lee. He had been in poor health for several months, the immediate cause of his death being cancer of the stomach, or some stomach trouble akin to it. He was the son of Leland Maupin, of near Waco, a brother of Walker Covington, of near Waco, a brother of Walter, of Missouri, and two half brothers, Brack and Julian, of this county. After short services by Rev. W. S. Taylor, of the Baptist church, at his home in Waco, his remains were laid to rest Thursday in the Richmond Cemetery.

A sad death it was, Wednesday, April 1, when Mrs. J. G. Baxter passed from life unto death at her home on the Summit, in this city. She had been in ill health for some months, and had spent a time at Dry Ridge Springs hoping thus to be benefited, but receiving no benefit, returned home and grew gradually worse until the end came. She was in her 32d year, hardly yet in the bloom of mature womanhood, when the Master called her. Before her marriage she was Miss Hattie Baldwin, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Baldwin, both deceased. She leaves a devoted husband and two children, Zerelda, aged 12, and an infant boy of eight months, two brothers, Lew and Edward, and a sister, Mrs. W. E. Taylor, of this county, besides many relatives and friends.

Mrs. Baxter was a lovely and lovable woman, a devoted wife, a fond mother and a true Christian. Her home was her castle, her children were her jewels. Funeral services were held at her late residence Thursday afternoon, Elders E. B. Barnes and Owen Young officiating, after which her body was laid gently to rest in Richmond's city of the dead. "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away."

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock a m., the death angel came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Stone Maupin and took from their fond embrace little Fannie Catherine, their thirteen months old infant babe. A later message announced his death and death was the victor after only a few hours. Brief services will be held at their home on Estill avenue Wednesday at 10 a. m., thence her burial in Richmond Cemetery.

On Saturday night last Mr. Jonah Wagers received a telegram from Mr. R. M. Dudley announcing the serious condition of Hume Wagers, of El Paso, Texas, and a later telegram confirmed the news and that the end was near. Mr. Wagers left Sunday for the bedside of his son. A later message announced his death at 6 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Will Dudley will bring the body to Kentucky. He will be met in Kansas City by Mr. Wagers. The party is expected to arrive here tonight (Wednesday) at 11:40 o'clock. A later message announced his death at 6 o'clock Monday morning. Mr. Wagers is the eldest son of Mr. Jonah Wagers, of this city. He had been in poor health for several years, a victim of tuberculosis, spending most of his time in Colorado in search of health. Every attention that a devoted father, family and friends could render was given him, but all in vain. He was in his 32d year.

In next week's Climax John R. Gibson & Co., will announce their "Special Sale Day" article. Watch their ad. 34-1t.

Horse Show Day a Success.

Monday, April court day, and annual exhibition day for Madison county's fine horses, drew a large crowd to Richmond to enjoy the display of Kentucky horse flesh on the yearly "horse show day." Following is a list, ridden and led, so far as could be obtained. If any be omitted, it is unintentional:

Peavine's Best and Angelus Peavine, both owned by Thomas Baldwin, Jr. These horses are too well known for us to attempt to describe them. They both made a fine show.

Bartels, owned by T. H. Parke, of White Hall, made a fine impression.

Chester Boyd, owned by G. W. Warner & Son, Edenton, did himself proud.

Starling Peavine, E. H. Wagers & Son, Moberly. A beauty.

King Squirrel, E. G. Shrewsbury. He is a good horse.

Dixie, Clark Rice, Waco. This horse attracted much attention.

Dandy Gay, H. G. McElwain, Richmond. An animal that showed his fine breeding in his every action.

Verdict, John W. Moore, Winchester. A perfect horse and seemed to know it.

Cricket, J. C. Cobb, White Hall, Speedwell. A nice horse.

Blue Chester, Robert Walker. An animal that held the crowd. He would not handle any other kind. He showed another superb animal in Mark Hanna, who his fine white pony stallion, Dr. Gratton, known to all horsemen.

Burnam Hockaday, D. L. Prewitt, of Cottonburg. This horse would attract attention in any crowd.

Billy Crutcher, Steve Crutcherfield, Richmond. An eye-opener.

Lynn Boyd, W. R. Boggs, Red House. Has to be seen to be appreciated.

Mr. Gayety, also shown by Mr. Boggs. Seas Clark, W. R. Boggs. A nice one.

Mr. Boggs brought in his two splendid jacks—Ky. Samson and Seas Clark.

Brilliant D. Wm. P. Turley's unbeatable animal, held the crowd. Mr. Turley's valuable jack, Long Tom, was in the fight.

Key Norman Jenkins, Valley View. Dr. Finn, Dr. Cobb, White Hall. Gen. Nelson, P. N. Monahan, city. Whit Lewis, Berea.

King of Madison, Tevis & Son, Ford. King Squirrel, Z. G. Shrewsbury. JACKS.

Stonewall, F. C. Shrewsbury, Richmond. Big Man, E. H. Wagers & Son, Moberly.

Dixie, J. W. Hord, Speedwell. Nolan, D. L. Prewitt, Cottonburg. Jack Johnson, Dave Cobb, White Hall.

Back From Florida.

Mr. P. W. Powell and wife, Mr. John E. Harris, of the city, Dr. Cobb and wife, of College Hill, have returned from a winter stay in Florida. They report a cold winter there with more rain than usual, all in all not a pleasant winter so far as weather was concerned. Mr. W. L. Crutcher and wife and Mrs. Anderson Chenault are expected this week from Orlando.

Automobiles Sold.

The Richmond Automobile Co. sold at public outcry Court day three second-hand automobiles in excellent condition. Lindsay Blanton becoming purchaser of one at $150.00, E. C. Cornelson one at $130.00 and Perry Gilbert one at $100.

The Madison Garage sold Mr. J. E. Soper, of this city, traveling salesman for Power Grocery Co., of Paris a Ford Runabout.

Jas. A. White, R. R. mail carrier, has bought an automobile to use in his business on his delivery route.

Contest Decided.

The guessing contest put on by the Richmond Coal & Supply Co. as to the number of blocks of coal in a certain box, the size of the blocks, of course, not being known, the outside of the box only being shown, has closed. Guesses ranged from 15 to 3,200. A ton of coal was the prize to the one guessing nearest to the correct number and was awarded to Mr. Hubert Griggs on his guess of 81. There were 82 blocks in the box.

Misses Curraleeen Smith, Margaretta Smith and Alma Rice spent the week-end at Miss Rice's home in the country. Miss Mary Frances Hsie entertained with a beautiful dinner Saturday for the young ladies of the senior class of Madison Institute.

Miss Annie Forbes has resigned as clerk at H. M. Whittington's jewelry store and accepted a position with the Richmond Drug Co.

Miss Margaret Wilmore entertained at Bridge on Friday afternoon for Miss Mary Watts Knight, the attractive guest of Miss Emma Wags.

Our city last Monday was largely attended by Estill county citizens among whom we were pleased to note Dr. J. F. Scrivner and daughter.

Among the visitors to our city last Monday, court day, were Wm. Congleton, James Witt, Jas. Stacey and Hugh Stacey, all of Estill county.

Mr. Richard Dudley accompanied the remains of Hume Wagers from El Paso, Texas, this week, and will be the guest of Mrs. Jonah Wagers for several days.

Mr. W. H. Conner, Manager of The Thomas Company, a large wholesale department store of Lexington, was a pleasant caller at the Climax office on Monday.

Last Monday Messrs. L. B. Herrington, C. L. Seary, S. P. Bush and Pleasant Broadus went to Winchester to hear Gov. James B. McCreary, candidate for United States Senator.

Mr. A. H. Nance, of Somerset, spent Sunday with his wife, who is here at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. William Myers, who is very low with little hope of recovery.

Mrs. H. B. Land, of Jessamine county, is visiting her mother and sister, Mrs. John March and Miss Belle March, on Collins street, and her sister, Mrs. Jeff Stone, in Burnamwood.

Mr. C. S. Jessup will spend Sunday next with his mother at Xenia, Ohio. She has been ill all winter and still continues so. Mr. Jessup has visited her several times during her illness.

Mr. J. S. Sewell, formerly of Sewell & McKinney, this city, now in the dry goods business in Cincinnati, was a welcome caller at the Climax office Monday. He bears the ad of prosperity.

Hon. John M. Elliot, of Estill county, attended court here Monday. He said that the contestants for office on the Democratic ticket in Estill county, will know this week the result of the election they are claiming.

Mr. Everett Alexander, county clerk of Estill county, was here Monday. She has been ill all winter and still continues so. Mr. Jessup has visited her several times during her illness.

Mrs. William Mellon, of College Hill, is at home greatly improved in health. She spent three weeks in the Good Samaritan hospital at Lexington, where she underwent an operation from which her recovery has been almost phenomenal.

Mrs. Brown Anderson, of Jessamine county, was a visitor to our city last Friday. Mrs. Anderson owns a beautiful blingrass farm, which is stocked with Kentucky thoroughbred horses. While here Col. Robert Walker, the horseman, was her host and she was shown some of Madison's choice stock.

Mr. and Mrs. Newlon Jones, of Phoenix, Arizona, who came to attend the funeral of Mrs. Jones' father, the late Marcus A. Phelps, have returned to their home. Mr. and Mrs. John Fox, of Dawson, Ga., came on the same day mission. Mrs. Fox being a daughter of Mr. Phelps, will return home in a few days.

Miss Elizabeth Wagers was hostess of the Mary Patton Music Club on Wednesday afternoon. Wagner's "Lohengrin" was the subject of the meeting, and piano solos were rendered by Misses Bettie French and Mary Wagers. Papers by Messrs. Dilling, Kathleen Bales and Tommie Cole Covington.

Mr. Belue, of B. E. Belue & Co., East Main street milliners, has ready-to-wear garments for ladies, was in Louisville last week looking over the market for new and up-to-date goods. Determined to have the advantage of both markets, Mrs. Belue was in Cincinnati the first of this week taking the market there, picking up ideas, items and a lot of new goods.

Mr. C. S. Jessup had as guests last Sunday Mr. Joseph E. Skaggs, of Charlotte, N. C., superintendent of the Southern Express Company, and Mr. E. J. Nottingham, Jr., of Asheville, N. C., route agent of the Southern Express Company. The beautiful day, inspiring church service, a good dinner at the Glynndon Hotel and an automobile ride in the afternoon contributed to the pleasure of the visitors.

Miss Ullrich, of the Model School, has been given a month's leave of absence on account of ill health.

An Excellent Appointment.

Commissioner of Agriculture J. W. Newman did himself credit in appointing Hon. C. L. Seary as Special Representative of the Department of Agriculture at the meeting of farmers and business men at the Conference of Education in the South, meeting in Louisville, beginning Tuesday, April 7. No better man than Mr. Seary could have been found in the county or even in the State. He is a successful business man and farmer, is thoroughly acquainted with the needs of the farmer and general business man. Madison county will be well represented. Her affairs will be well looked after. Depend on that.

Everybody is invited to attend the Easter Sunday sermon by Rev. Bawm, at Vineyard church next Sunday.

Miss Verna Parks, of Kingston, who was visiting relatives in this neighborhood Sunday, was very much impressed with our Sunday-school and some of our S. S. boys had a like impression of the visitor.

W. J. West, wife and daughter, Evelyn Morton, of Silver Creek, were up on Sunday visiting home folks.

A small crowd entered the home of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Todd, at this place last Sunday night and did considerable damage. They ate two big cakes and drank wine and grape juice in proportion, but they were so orderly, jolly and well behaved that they were invited to return.

Linoleums and Matting.

PRETTY PATTERNS

Easy to keep clean

Dear Amy:-

Laura has just been over to see me to tell me her troubles. She lost that maid she had that was such a treasure. Now, if she'd buy linoleum for her kitchen floor, as I've begged her to do, she wouldn't have so much trouble keeping help. It makes a kitchen or bathroom so much easier to keep clean, and besides, it always gives them a more attractive appearance. I've bought pretty new matting for my bedrooms this summer. They give the rugs a rest, and are more sanitary, also. Come over and see them. Baby John dearly loves to play on the kitchen now.

Bye Bye, Lou.

S.S.-You'll see dandy linoleums and matting if you go down to Birthday Observed.

On Friday, April 3, Mrs. Wm. Devore passed her sixty-fifth birthday on the journey of life. Her friends remembered her with a Post Card Shower. Her children, too, did not forget the day. Each one presented her with a gift of flowers. It was a beautiful tribute of love and affection, given by sons and daughters to a devoted and loving mother, and well deserved, too, by that faithful mother of forty years or more. A dinner was served, only the immediate family being present. Good-byes and "God bless you's" were said and thus the day ended, long to be remembered.

Gov. McCreary at Winchester

Gov. McCreary opened his campaign for U. S. Senator at Winchester Monday. A large and enthusiastic gathering of friends and admirers greeted him. Friends in numbers not only from Clark county but from Madison and adjoining counties were largely in evidence. The Governor made a fine speech on a high plane, no abuse, no belittling of any opponent. He declared that he intended to make the contest entirely upon his past democratic record and his ability to lead the party to victory in the final election of a Senator to take the place of Hon. W. O. Bradley and not upon the demerits or the mistakes of any of his opponents.

Just as we go to press, too late for publication, we have received a copy, the full text of his speech, which would make good reading but for want of time and space we cannot publish.

City Council.

Regular meeting of the City Council was held Thursday evening last. All councilmen present and Mayor Rice in the chair. Regular routine business was taken up and disposed of. The principal business was the question of building of a city work house and letting by contract the labor of city prisoners. This question had come up at the March meeting a month ago and at Mayor Rice's suggestion was postponed in order to allow the taxpayers to think it over and an urgent appeal through the city papers was made to citizens generally to attend the Council meeting and express fully their opinions. After some discussion the vote was taken and resulted in a tie. The Mayor then voted "No" and thus the proposition was defeated. Mayor Rice believes that under the present conditions it would be unwise for the city to undertake the matter, that at some future time it would perhaps be the wisest thing to do, but not now.

Squire Jones was elected driver of the fire department in place of Gen'l. Nelson, resigned.

The Phelps Sale.

The sale of land and personal property of the late Marcus A. Phelps took place Friday last. A large crowd was on hand and everything sold well. Tom Fox purchased 57 1-2 acres adjoining S.M. Phelps got 130 acres at $67.50, having bought this privately before the sale. Mules brought from $210 to $237 per pair; corn sold at $1.50 to $1.60; cattle very close to 10c; hogs 8c; farming implements brought good prices. Long Ford Chevrolet handled the sale in his usual hustling and business-like manner and secured lively bidding and good prices throughout.

Death of Miss Hazel Whitlock.

When the spirit of Hazel Whitlock took its flight and wafted its way back to the God who gave it, the light of a beautiful young life went out.

Miss Whitlock was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. V. Whitlock. She was stricken with pneumonia, and her frail body could not withstand an attack of this dread disease. From the first it was thought that she could not recover. She passed away after a little more than a week's illness, in the early hour of Friday morning soon after 12 o'clock. Quietly and peacefully she passed from life into death.

"So softly death succeeded life in her. She did not dream of heaven and she was there."

Miss Whitlock was in her twenty-first year; just budding into bright, beautiful womanhood.

"Standing with reluctant feet,
Where the brook and river meet,
Womanhood and childhood fleet."

Besides her father and mother, she leaves a brother, Prof. Nathan Whitlock, of Montana, and a sister, Mrs. G. C. Stocker, of this city, and many relatives and friends.

Brief funeral services were held at the family residence on the Bates Creek pike Saturday afternoon, conducted by Elders E. B. Barnes and C. K. Marshall. A large concourse of friends followed her body when it was laid to rest in Richmond Cemetery.

When the last prayer at the grave was ended, the last word spoken, the family and friends moved sadly and slowly away, leaving under a bank of flowers the mortal remains of Hazel Whitlock.

IN MEMORIAM.
(Contributed)

"With a cherry smile and a wave of the hand,
She has wandered into an unknown land,
And left us dreaming how very fair
It needs must be, since she lingers there."

"None knew her but to love her" can most fittingly be spoken of Hazel Whitlock, this friend, who has passed from our midst.

Her young life was singularly bright and beautiful. Old and young were glad to claim her as a friend, for she possessed to a rare degree the power of radiating happiness. To her friends she was ever true and sympathetic; toward all she manifested good will; she spoke no unkind word nor cherished an unkind feeling. Her joyous laugh, her sweet, kind words and deeds, will remain with all of us and make us feel the happier because it was Hazel who spoke them.

In the lovely cemetery, which she so often visited with her schoolmates, she now sleeps, lulled by the music of the wind, the rustling of the leaves and the murmuring grass, but her gentle spirit lives behind her in the hearts of those friends who feel with me that the Great Gardener too truly gathers from among His flowers, the choicest to brighten and sweeten His mansions above.

H. H. Colyer For State Auditor.

Our esteemed Democratic servant, H. H. Colyer, is proving to be a State-wide reacher in securing winning endorsements through the pushers of democracy in support of his ambition to be State Auditor, subject to the decision of the Democratic primary, August, 1915. This news is certainly gratifying to us, as well as to all Kentuckians who know him. The general public expression is: "Yes; I am for Colyer for any office within our party." If the Democratic editors of Kentucky knew him as we do, they would cheerfully assist in pushing him to victory. The public needs just such men as Mr. Colyer in official positions.

You cannot place him wrong. On interviewing Mr. Colyer, we received the following report, which we are glad to get and certainly will support. He said: "The reliable pledges made to me from every section of the State are sufficient to warrant my being a strong factor in the race, regardless of any political primary conditions that may arise. I am certain that my chances to win are exceedingly flattering. I know that I have a reliable following in Central and Eastern Kentucky that will be embarrassing to those that might seek to thwart my prospects. The Democratic forces at home are a unit in support of my aspirations."

"My ambition to be State Auditor is not new. I have long since felt like the Democrats of the State would tell me when the prospect had ripened for my preferment to this office. The information now before me received from every section of Kentucky is sufficient to warrant the facts in my presentment. I am certainly going to fight for my chances."

"I was born and reared in the Eleventh District. My relatives and friends are sprinkled over a large portion of the State. I have fought the battles of Democracy for years without flinching. I knew nothing but loyalty to my party nominees. My political record is open for inspection. The past whispered suspicion of what I am now stating, may be transformed into the knowledge that I am in to stay and will fight to win."

"The wise, thinking army of private voters have abolished the old time corrupt convention methods; and by this noble act of freedom, every citizen today, whether he be a senator or wood chopper, can now have his vote registered as he desires at the polls. This system grants equal freedom to all and special privileges to none."

"Now, the further fact that these rights of suffrage are granted to a sovereign people, is an accepted definition of political equality."

"I believe that every aspirant's ambition should be measured by his loyalty and party service from the beginning of his freedom. These are a few of my strong reasons that have inspired me with a confidence that a creditable majority of the Democrats of Kentucky will, in August, 1915, reward me with the honor and authority of the office of State Auditor."

A Live Wire.

Mr. J. S. Stanifer, the "live wire" in the clothing business, has recently made some improvements in the interior of his business place; new shelving and more of it, and changes in location of certain departments of his stock. The improvements not only make it more convenient to the public to be served and to the salesmen who serve them, but it was necessary to give more room for stock in order to take proper care of his already large and increasing business.

All Astir.

The members of Floating Canoe Tribe, No. 76, I. O. R. M., of this city, are all astir these days. In about one month the big pow wow will be held here and Indians from all parts of the State will assemble to take part in the great festivities and smoke the "Pipe of Peace."

The local tribe is one of the best in Kentucky and everything possible is being done in the way of preliminary work to make the coming event one of the most notable gatherings in the history of Redmanship. All committees have been appointed, the ground is being laid out for the erection of wigwams, material is being gathered and soon the camp fires will be started and cast the reflection of their ruddy glow over hill and dale and vale. A grand reception will await the Big Chiefs upon their arrival and form a grand pageant of weird and scenic beauty. There is a possibility of a number of pale faces losing their scalps when the war dance starts and the Indian pot begins to boil.

April Court Day in Richmond.

Monday dawned with a clear sky and beautiful sunshine. There was a large crowd of people in the city, the ground not being in condition to work. There were a large number of mules on the market. Some were sold at good prices, many remaining unsold. They ranged from $100 to $227.50 per head. At the stock yards there were about 1,200 cattle on the market. They also sold at good prices, ranging from 4 to 9 cents per pound. There were only about one car of sheep, which brought a good price. Hogs brought about 8 cents per pound. The number on market was not large. There were also sold at auction a good number of buggies and cheap horses and mules. Altogether the day was not an extra brisk one though much business was done.

INDIGESTION OVERCOME

Overcome by Simple Remedy. Hurried and careless habits of eating, irregular meals and foods that do not harmonize, tend to weaken the digestive organs and result in different forms of stomach trouble.

If you are one of the unfortunate who have drifted into this condition, eat simple foods only, slowly, regularly and take Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic.

Mrs. H. J. Smith, Thomasville, Ga., says: "I suffered from a stomach trouble, was tired, worn out and nervous. A friend advised me to take Vinol. My stomach trouble soon disappeared and now I eat heartily and have a perfect digestion and I wish every tired, weak woman could have Vinol, for I never spent any money in my life that did me so much good."

The recovery of Mrs. Smith was due to the combined action of the medicinal elements of the cod's livers—aided by the blood making and strength creating properties of tonic iron, which are contained in Vinol. We will return the purchase money every time Vinol fails to benefit.

GO TO NEAL INSTITUTE OR THE WORKHOUSE.

Hew Mayor Engelhardt, of Norwood, Planned To Save Rather Than Punish a Drink Victim—The New Law of Brotherhood.

"You must go to the Neal Institute for treatment or to the Workhouse," was the judgment given by Mayor Harry E. Engelhardt, of Norwood, Ohio, in disposing of the case of a disorderly victim of drink—a disturbing element that had fractured the peace of his own and the preceding administration.

The Neal Institute was chosen and there at the former home of Captain C. M. Holloway, in Avondale, the work of saving, rather than punishing, the victim, was accomplished with all the personal care and kind attention characteristic of the Neal method of quickly ridding drinkers of the craving desire for liquor, which leads them into repeated and persistent excesses.

To stop drink you must get all alcoholic poison out of the system, and the Neal Treatment knocks it out in three brief days.

John H. Perry, a Seattle attorney, who is writing a series of Articles on "Injunctions of The Law," said recently in the Cleveland Press: "No one but a fool would send a man to jail to cure drunkenness. Then why do it, or permit it to be done? Have a public institute (wherein no odium attaches to the inmates) where proper medical treatment can cure the disease of drunkenness and other curable drug habits."

Mayor Engelhardt is not the first Ohio official to catch the new vision, that it is better to save than to punish drink victims.

Emmett Henry, of Bourbon, recently bought a pair of 3 year-old Percheron mares from Milford Berry, of Moorefield, for $550.

Squire J. S. Berry, of Clark, bought from Sam S. Ralls, of Sharpsburg, the 4-year-old jack, Hero, for $1,000. He was sired by Big Ike, and is one of the best in the country.

Claude Hamilton, of Nicholas county, is said to have a record-breaking drove of sheep. He has secured 36 lambs from 12 ewes and in the lot were four sets of triplets, while one ewe gave birth to four lambs and in two years has given birth to seven lambs. Another of his ewes has borne six lambs in two years.

Total receipts of live stock market in Chicago last week were 40,786 cattle, 9,650 calves, 123,047 hogs and 101,405 sheep. On the corresponding week of last year the receipts at same market were 35,580 cattle, 9,994 calves, 121,059 hogs and 75,237 sheep.

The average prices of live stock on the Chicago market last week, as compiled by the Drovers Journal were: cattle $8.35, hogs $8.70, sheep $6.10 and lambs $7.85.

On the corresponding week of last year the averages were: cattle $8.15, hogs $9.20, sheep $6.25 and lambs $8.35 per pound.

The top price on hogs at the Chicago market last week was $8.71-2 and the average was 8.70. On the corresponding week of last year the top price was 9.15 and the average was 9.20.

The Stanford Interior Journal reports the sale by Samuel Costello, of Lincoln, to Whitehouse & Johnson, of Boyle, of 455 head of 1,200 pound cattle at 8c per pound. The sale represents a deal of over $43,000.

NEED NOT FEAR FOR CANAL

Fortifications to Guard the Great Waterway Through Panama Will Be Made Impregnable.

Having invested nearly $375,000,000 in the canal, the United States is intent upon safeguarding that tremendous outlay against the possibility of damage through foreign war. Fortification of the canal has been undertaken purely as an insurance matter. It is sought to make it impossible in time of war for any enemy to take possession of the waterway or to damage it to such an extent that the ships of the United States could not use it at will.

Guns of 14 and 16-inch caliber will be placed at forts guarding both the Pacific and Atlantic entrances, commanding a radius of 15 miles. The forts at the Pacific entrance are constructed on three islands in Panama Bay, at the very beginning of the canal. Flamenco, Perico and Naos. There are huge masses of volcanic rock, behind which, safe from the fire of any ship, no matter how powerful, the forts stand. The great Miraflores locks are seven miles inland from the forts, and no gun at the present time is powerful enough to send a shell the 22 miles intervening between the outside of the zone of fire from the forts, and those locks which control the canal. Even with the marvels of modern gunnery, it would be as difficult to place a shell, even if it could be thrown that far, as for a rifleman to hit a lead pencil at a distance of 2,000 yards.—Popular Mechanics.

NOT APPRECIATED AT FIRST

Fitzgerald's Translation of "Omar Khayyam" Once Sold at the Ridiculous Price of Two Cents.

How Edward Fitzgerald's "Omar Khayyam" was rescued from neglect and obscurity, a London contemporary tells. Mr. Bernard Quaritch, the elder, published the book, and finding that it did not sell, he relegated it to the penny box in his shop. Its subsequent success was due to a fortunate accident. Two of Dante Gabriel Rossetti's friends came across the poem, and thought it worth reading. Rossetti's read it, and recommended it to Swinburne.

"Having read it," Swinburne wrote, "Rossetti and I invested sixpence apiece, or possibly threepence—I would not wish to exaggerate our extravagance—in copies at that not exorbitant price."

"Next day, we thought we might get some more for presents among friends, but the man at the stall asked two pence! Rossetti expostulated with him in terms of such humorously indignant remonstrance as none but he could ever command. We took a few, and left him. In a week or two, if I am not much mistaken, the remaining copies were sold at a guinea. I have since seen copies offered at still more absurd prices. I kept my pennyworth—the tidiest of the lot—and have it still."—Youth's Companion.

Believed Him Honest, But—Mayor Hunt of Cincinnati said the other day of a notorious political boss: "They who call this fellow honest have to stretch the truth a little. They have to stretch it like the old colored farmer of Paint Rock."

"This old farmer said to a young chap:

"'Look, heah, Calhoun, Ah don't min' yore co'tin' mah gal Lillian, but Ah'd ruther yo' wouldn't come round mah house no mo'."

"'Time fo' de las' wot yo' wuz heah, Calhoun, Ah missed a watah bucket, and de las' time de bridle wuz gone, and now Ah has use fo' de saddle, Ah'd ruther yo' wouldn't come round mah house no mo'."

"'Ah don't say yo' hain't honest, fo' Ah b'lieves yo' is; but sich cu' things happens when yo's in de neighborhood; so, jes' ter please, ole man, wot ahin' enjyin' do de best or health, please don't come round dis house no mo'."

Persian Temple Coming to America. L. Kevorkian, a noted Persian excavator, who controls a concession for excavating buried Persian cities south of Teheran, is going to New York with 200 or 300 pieces of Persian pottery, said to be from 2,000 to 5,000 years old.

He will also take a remarkable praying temple, which is said to be 2,000 years old. It will be shipped in three sections.

All the pieces are wonderfully enameled. There are two small pieces and one small pot eight inches high, which are valued at $50,000. Another piece is an urn which is said to be worth $60,000.

Mr. Kevorkian says the collection is the result of excavations in the past two years and that he intends to exhibit it in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago.

Rigid Law Enforcement. In the United States performing animals run risks. Some years ago a chimpanzee visited South Bend, Ind.

Among other tricks he smoked a cigarette. As soon as he lit up a policeman stepped forward and asked for the animal's name, in order that a summons might be issued against him for infringing a law of the Indiana legislature prohibiting cigarette smoking. In court the following day it was pleaded that the chimpanzee could hardly be expected to know the extent of his guilt; but the magistrate ruled that ignorance was no excuse for law-breaking, and fined the defendant the sum of $5, which was paid by his trainer.

A bulletin just issued from the Kentucky Experiment Station states that there was a loss of only 8 per cent, of all the hogs treated with anti-cholera serum during the year 1913.

J. Newt Rensker, agent for J. W. Poynter, sold his farm of 135 acres in Harrison county to W. W. Rensker for $65 an acre.—Dal Powell sold to Chas. Swift several Hereford and Pole heifers at $40 each. He sold to Chas. Duff, of Mt. Sterling, a bull for $60.—Winchester Democrat

Not Like Father.

An old Irishman who had made a good deal of money, but who wasn't very particular about his habits or conduct, lived in Chicago. His custom was to go down town about once a month on a spree, and then come back home and beat up his family and break up the furniture. His aged wife who had stood him for many years, was blind. Finally he died and his children gave him a fine funeral. They had plenty of money now that the old man was dead, and so they spread themselves. At the church there was elaborate ceremony. The blind widow was dissolved in woe. She cried and cried all through the services, paying scant heed to what was going on until the eulogy was pronounced. She listened. The priest referred to the dead man in glowing terms. After about ten minutes of this the aged widow nudged her son and whispered: "Danny do they be havin' two funerals here today?"

The Dog's Life of Devotion.

It is a deep mystery, this animal world in which we live and of which we are an integral part. Since the dawn of history the dog has distinguished himself for notable deeds of courage, devotion, fidelity and affection. No other animal on earth is so fond of a man and so loyal to him. The dog's life is given up to the service of his master whom he looks up to and worships as if he regarded him a deity. The dog has a religion in which his human master is his God. The only heaven a dog knows is a welcome place in the heart of him whom he delights to serve. With that possession his happiness is complete.

Human friends may prove deceitful, false and treacherous, but the dog's friendship is unfailing and enduring. It is proof against all temptations. If every other friend in the world turns traitor to a man, his dog will stand by him and refuse to "turn him down." When dire misfortune overtakes the master, his dog is the one true friend who does not desert him in his extremity, but clings the closer to him. And at the end, that last sad scene that comes to all—friends, home and family gone—the loving and devoted companion of poverty, want and rags, the ever-faithful and loving dog, follows his master's lifeless body to an unmarked grave, and there prone upon a cold, damp mound of clay, he lays his head between his paws and mourns a requiem until he dies of grief. The dog's sincere love, unswerving devotion and rare fidelity have shone in song and story since the dawn of civilization. There can be no reasonable doubt that we share a common nature and a common fate with our mute fellow-creatures around us, which we are pleased to call "lower animals," and it may be that our poor dumb relations share a common destiny with us.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who for nearly a half century represented the heart and brains of the Christian clergy of America, in the course of an eloquent sermon on "Men and Other Animals," declared: "Why, if horses and dogs have not souls to be saved, what in Heaven's name will become of their masters? For fidelity and devotion, for love and loyalty, many a two-legged animal is far below the dog and horse. Happy would it be for thousands of people if they could stand at last before the judgment seat of Christ and truthfully say: 'I have loved as truly, I have lived as decently as my dog.' And yet we speak of the dog as being 'only a brute.'—Our Dumb Animals."

Reducing Tobacco Acreage.

Two of the tobacco growers' organizations in Western Kentucky have voted unanimously to curtail the tobacco acreage. These organizations are located in what is known as the stemming district where prices in the last two years have not been satisfactory to the producers.

Tobacco prices unquestionably would be better if the growers did not over-reach themselves in acreage. It is not an easy matter to limit production. A movement by organized growers to reduce the acreage usually results in a corresponding effort on the part of the independent growers to put out larger crops. It is a fact, also, that some of those who vote for the curtailment of acreage expect the other fellow to do all the curtailment. These contrive by evasion of one kind and another to grow their usual amount of the weed, hoping to profit by the reduction of acreage by those who scrupulously observe their agreement.

The growers' organizations are trying to systematize the production and marketing of tobacco and, in truth, the system is greatly needed. So long as so many of the tobacco farmers sacrifice quality while striving for quantity in their crops there will be complaint of unsatisfactory returns. It is not possible to bring all the growers into any sort of an association, and it is difficult to induce some of those who enter into the pooling agreement to stand hitched. Possibly the organizations themselves are lacking in system, but they are persisting and it is presumable that while they are living they are learning.

There is no doubt that if the growers could be induced to line up together compactly for a reduced acreage and for co-operative selling they could control the tobacco situation—at least to the extent that fair prices would be forthcoming for their product. The present tendency is in that direction. How long it will be before the organization reaches such a state of undoubted efficiency is merely a matter of surmise.

Farmers and others who live at a distance from a drug store should keep in the house a bottle of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It may be needed at any time for cuts, wounds, sores, sprains or rheumatism. It is a powerful healing and penetrating remedy. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Wines' Drug Store.

TO MATCH THE GOWN

FOOTWEAR ELABORATE AND OCCASIONALLY STARTLING.

With the Prettiest of Shoes, Conspicuously Embroidered Stockings Are Worn—Some Charming Fancies Seen in City Shops.

To meet the requirements of the fashionable woman, whose faultless appearance necessitates the wearing of specially matched shoes to each gown, manufacturers offer the most elaborate footwear. They realize that never before was there so great an opportunity for making money as at present. Even the most conservative dressers insist upon pretty footwear, for with the short, tight skirts an otherwise faultless costume will be ruined if the shoes are not in keeping.

Stockings are as much a factor in the scheme of dress as shoes. A few years back women disdained the thought of conspicuously embroidered stockings, but today nothing is too elaborate. For instance, a pair of dull blue suede slippers are accompanied by a pair of dull blue silk hose, elaborately embroidered in soft tones, with shaped medallions encircling a small bouquet of miniature roses. Another pair of green suede slippers, ornamented with soft colored bows and laced with ribbons of a matching color, are fastened with a jade buckle, set in a heavy rim of dull gold and are accompanied by a pair of lattice-work silk hose of the same shade. Another pair of dull green suede slippers fastened with straps over the instep have pearl buttons, and are accompanied by sheer silk hose of the same shade embroidered on the ankle with a flower and leaf design. Another pair of black and white slippers with black heels and black bows are perforated in order to show ribbons. A pair of dainty stockings with scroll design on the ankle are worn with these. Still another pair of slippers of black suede are accompanied by a pair of pale green stockings. The shoes have cameo buckles set in a dull gold rim. This time the stockings are embroidered in dull gold, in a conventional design at the ankle.

Some women who go in for the spectacular will be interested in the hose, which have gayly colored animals and insects inset with semiprecious stones.

For instance, one pair of hose seen in a New York shop window was ornamented at the instep with a tiny chameleon in imitation emerald. Another pair of hose in black silk showed on the instep a scarlet lobster embroidered with red silk thread. Still another pair of silk hose in a dainty shade of gray had a tiny gray mouse with pink eyes. Many are the hose embroidered in flower designs, self-tones or natural colors. One pair was decked with morning glories in all the lovely shades of the flowers; another with forget-me-nots, and a third pair of black silk stockings was adorned with yellow daisies.

Buttons are Larger. One of the predominating features of the spring suits, as being shown in advanced models in Paris, is the buttons. Buttons seem to be made out of every substance—some seem to be made out of pebbles, some out of agate, and some out of amber. They are larger than ever, and long bar shapes, and balls seem to be most favored. Colors are decidedly vivid.

For the Small Room. If you wish to write or sew and have no space for a table in the tiny hall bedroom get a board of proper size, pull out a dresser drawer, place the board on top, and you have a table without having to remove anything from the dresser. A heavy board is best, and a leaf from an extension table would be just the thing, and it could be hidden in the closet when not in use.

JACKSONVILLE AND THE REUNION

Veterans Will Find a Modern, Progressive City

Many Points of Historic Interest To Be Visited By Survivors of Gray Army During Week.

Jacksonville, Fla.—When the Confederate veterans and their friends assemble here for their 24th annual reunion, they will be introduced to a city and community, proud of the present and loyal to the ideals of the old South. Making Jacksonville the hub of a wheel twenty-five miles in diameter, a territory is covered rich in historic associations and interest and at the same time a fit exponent of all that is progressive in the Southern States. Jacksonville is a city of 85,000 population, with handsome business blocks, modern skyscrapers, commodious hotels and residence sections that compare favorably with the best in the country. The city's business has grown into large proportions, embracing every line known to a modern city. Jacksonville of today is in all respects a thriving center of trade and commerce, much of its commerce going across the seas into foreign countries on ocean steamships. Its transportation facilities are superb, both by rail and water. Railroads feeding the great Florida Peninsula center here. Thousands of tourists and uncounted tons of freight pass through the city and port every year, the one hunting health and pleasure, the other scattering out over the civilized world to do its part in supplying the demands of the consumers of the earth.

And while the visitors are enjoying this view and prospect of modern business and community thrift, they will be given an opportunity to look down the past three hundred and fifty years. All of this territory was in dispute three and a half centuries ago between the French and Spanish, with the wild Indian holding the balance of power between the combatants. The Frenchman and the Spaniard both laid claim to the Florida territory. Which was first to discover it is a matter over which historians differ, but it is well authenticated that the first white men to set foot upon the soil now covered by Jacksonville were Frenchmen under Rene Laudonniere.

The first white man to enter the mouth of the St. Johns river was Jean Ribault, in command of a company of Huguenots, who had left France because of religious persecutions. He made his landing on May 1, 1562, fifty years after the landing of Ponce de Leon at a point to the south of Jacksonville. Some historians are of the opinion that Ponce de Leon sailed as far north as the mouth of the St. Johns, but the weight of evidence is against this opinion. If he were here he left no trace. The evidence is that he did not travel in a direction from his original landing that would have brought him to the vicinity of Jacksonville. It is thoroughly established that Ribault entered the mouth of the St. Johns river May 1, 1562, and sailed up the river some miles to a bluff, where he erected a stone column on which was inscribed the arms of France. But Ribault did not ascend the river as high as Jacksonville. He went from the mouth of the river to Port Royal, S. C.

In 1664, one year after the departure of Ribault, Rene Laudonniere, who had been with Ribault on the first expedition, came to the mouth of the St. Johns with another colony of Huguenots, and ascended the river as far as the present site of Jacksonville, camping probably on the south side of the river on territory now covered by South Jacksonville. These were the first white men to penetrate the country above the mouth of the river. In honor of the day of discovery, May 1, Ribault gave the river the name of May, and this stood until the Spaniards whipped out the French, some years later. The Spaniards called it the River San Mateo at first, but later changed its name to San Juan. From this it finally became the St. Johns. Old Fort Caroline was situated at St. John's bluff some miles below the city of Jacksonville. No sign of this historic fort remains, not even a slab to commemorate its mournful story.

During the reunion, steamboat excursions will be run to all these points of historic interest on the St. Johns river. It is but twenty-seven miles from Jacksonville to the mouth of the St. Johns, where the government has constructed, with the aid of Jacksonville, and the State of Florida, a system of jetties, deepened the water on the bar and otherwise protected navigation. In passing between Jacksonville and the jetties, the visitor will have no trouble locating the sites of old forts that were erected nearly four hundred years ago by the French and Spanish. The trip is one of the most delightful in the Southern States.

While Jacksonville has not advertised itself as a large manufacturing city, of recent years many large industrial plants have been established, giving employment to 5,000 wage-earners and turning out $14,000,000 to $15,000,000 worth of products per annum. In variety of products, the city makes a showing that but few other communities can equal. New industries are secured almost every month, and the Board of Trade, one of the most active in the South, is steadily pushing a campaign for more industrial establishments.

BLUE CHESTER, 1154

Combines the blood of Chester Dare 10, Blue Jeans 3, Dolly Varden and Diamond Denmark 68. This great show horse and sire will make the season at my stable at

$20.00 for a Living Colt

Blue Chester is all style and finish, the picture of his great sire, Chester Dare 10. He imparts his championship class to his colts. He sired Invadale, who never met with defeat in the East and sold for $3,000. Five of his get in 1913 sold for from $500 to $1,750. Blue Chester has that long neck, clean cut around the neck and throatlatch that nothing but the Chester Dare blood can carry.

MARK HANNA, 2099

Mark Hanna is a dark bay, black points, 15-3-4 hands high, his head and tail in the proper place. Natural just as nature made him. No knife in his tail, no cheek bit on his head—he is just as he is foaled. He is built for service—strong at every point, a good round well-coupled body on short legs; no horse has a better foot or bone, can do as much as any horse living and has proven himself one of the best breeders in Kentucky. He is one of the best bred horses living. He is by Lynn Boyd 44, out of Helen 373, out of the greatest brood mares Madison county ever produced. Mark Hanna is by a show horse, out of a show mare, a show horse himself and a breeder. Will make the season at my stable at

$15.00 for a Living Colt

THE SNOW WHITE PONY

DR. GRATTEN

Will also make the season at my stable. Dr. Gratten is one of the best show ponies in Kentucky, winning at some of the leading fairs last year, and is a great breeder.

The Tortures of Rheumatism

are aggravated during climatic changes because the impure blood is incapable of resistance and ordinary treatment seems useless—but the fame of Scott's Emulsion for relieving rheumatism is based on logical principles and scientific facts. This oil-food promptly makes active, red, life-sustaining blood corpuscles and its body-building properties regulate the functions to expel poisonous acids.

Scott's Emulsion, with careful diet for one month, will relieve the lame muscles and stiffened joints and subdue the unbearable sharp pains when other remedies fail.

Beware of alcoholic imitations and insist on the purity of SCOTT'S. AT ALL DRUGGISTS

A Bashful Suitor.

"There is a lady of my acquaintance," says Marshall P. Wilder, "who has in her establishment as cook a most prepossessing Irish girl. It follows, as a matter of course that the cook has many admirers. In fact, her mistress asserts that the kitchen is seldom of an evening without a caller. Recently the lady of the house who, though she disapproves of a cook having so many callers, yet hesitates to rebuke her for fear of losing her valuable services, referred to the advent of a new admirer."

"How is it, Maggie," queried the mistress, "that when this latest beau of yours is in the kitchen with you of an evening one never hears a sound?"

"Oh, mum," responded the girl with a broad grin, "as yet the poor fellow is that bashful he does nawthin' but ate."

Be a Sunshine Radiator.

Making "sunshine" that will spread into a million other lives is an occupation open to every man, whatever his other occupation may be. A Philadelphia business man tells of the joy he has in riding in a certain trolley car, which he says has a "sunshine radiator" at each end—a conductor who seizes every opportunity to help his passengers and a motorman who whistles the wagons off the track, and waves a smile at every driver he passes. This business man is but one of many that have caught the message of this unusual kindness and its unusual results, and he passed it on to his hundreds of employees as an incentive towards a brighter atmosphere in their establishment. It is a Christian's special privilege to be a Sunshine radiator, and no corner is too obscure to be a starting point for infinite rays of light and joy.—Sunday School Times.

Rheumatic Pains Relieved.

Why suffer from rheumatism when relief may be had at so small a cost? Mrs. Elmer Hatch, Peru, Ind., writes: "I have been subject to attacks of rheumatism for years. Chamberlain's Liniment always relieves me immediately. I take pleasure in recommending it to others." 25 and 50 cent bottles. For sale by all dealers.

Not Like Father.

An old Irishman who had made a good deal of money, but who wasn't very particular about his habits or conduct, lived in Chicago. His custom was to go down town about once a month on a spree, and then come back home and beat up his family and break up the furniture. His aged wife who had stood him for many years, was blind. Finally he died and his children gave him a fine funeral. They had plenty of money now that the old man was dead, and so they spread themselves. At the church there was elaborate ceremony. The blind widow was dispossessed in woe. She cried and cried all through the services, paying scant heed to what was going on until the eulogy was pronounced. She listened. The priest referred to the dead man in glowing terms. After about ten minutes of this aged widow nudged her son and whispered: "Danny do they be havin' two funerals here today?"

The Dog's Life of Devotion.

It is a deep mystery, this animal world in which we live and of which we are an integral part.

Since the dawn of history the dog has distinguished himself for notable deeds of courage, devotion, fidelity and affection. No other animal on earth is so fond of a man and so loyal to him. The dog's life is given up to the service of his master whom he looks up to and worships as if he regarded him a deity. The dog has a religion in which his human master is his God. The only heaven a dog knows is a welcome place in the heart of him whom he delights to serve. With that possession his happiness is complete.

Human friends may prove deceitful, false and treacherous, but the dog's friendship is unflinching and enduring. It is proof against all temptations. If every other friend in the world turns traitor to a man, his dog will stand by him and refuse to "turn him down." When dire misfortune overtakes the master, his dog is the one true friend who does not desert him in his extremity, but clings the closer to him. And at the end, that last sad scene that come to all—friends, home and family gone—the loving and devoted companion of poverty, want and rags, the ever-faithful and loving dog, follows his master's lifeless body to an unmarked grave, and there prone upon a cold, damp mound of clay, he lays his head between his paws and mourns a requiem until he dies of grief.

The dog's sincere love, unswerving devotion and rare fidelity have shone in song and story since the dawn of civilization. There can be no reasonable doubt that we share a common nature and a common fate with our mute fellow-creatures around us, which we are pleased to call, "lower animals," and it may be that our poor dumb relations share a common destiny with us.

The Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, who for nearly a half century represented the heart and brains of the Christian clergy of America, in the course of an eloquent sermon on "Men and Other Animals," declared: "Why, if horses and dogs have not souls to be saved, what in Heaven's name will become of their masters? For fidelity and devotion, for love and loyalty, many a two-legged animal is far below the dog and horse. Happy would it be for thousands of people if they could stand at last before the judgment seat of Christ and truthfully say, 'I have loved as truly, I have lived as decently as my dog.' And yet we speak of the dog as being 'only a brute.'"—Our Dumb Animals.

Reducing Tobacco Acreage.

Two of the tobacco growers' organizations in Western Kentucky have voted unanimously to curtail the tobacco acreage. These organizations are located in what is known as the stemming district where prices in the last two years have not been satisfactory to the producers.

Tobacco prices unquestionably would be better if the growers did not over-reach themselves in acreage. It is not an easy matter to limit production. A movement by organized growers to reduce the acreage usually results in a corresponding effort on the part of the independent growers to put out larger crops. It is a fact, also, that some of those who vote for the curtailment of acreage expect the other fellow to do all the curtailings. These contrive by evasion of one kind and another to grow their usual amount of the weed, hoping to profit by the reduction of acreage by those who scrupulously observe their agreement.

The growers' organizations are trying to systematize the production and marketing of tobacco and, in truth, the system is greatly needed. So long as so many of the tobacco farmers sacrifice quality while striving for quantity in their crops there will be complaint of unsatisfactory returns. It is not possible to bring all the growers into any sort of an association, and it is difficult to induce some of those who enter into the pooling agreement to stand hitched. Possibly the organizations themselves are lacking in system, but they are persisting and it is presumable that while they are living they are learning.

There is no doubt that if the growers could be induced to line up together compactly for a reduced acreage and for co-operative selling they could control the tobacco situation—at least to the extent that fair prices would be forthcoming for their product. The present tendency is in that direction. How long it will be before the organization reaches such a state of undoubted efficiency is merely a matter of surmise.

Farmers and others who live at a distance from a drug store should keep in the house a bottle of BALLARD'S SNOW LINIMENT. It may be needed at any time for cuts, wounds, sores, sprains or rheumatism. It is a powerful healing and penetrating remedy. Price 25c, 50c and $1.00 per bottle. Sold by Wines' Drug Store.

TO MATCH THE GOWN

FOOTWEAR ELABORATE AND OCCASIONALLY STARTLING.

With the Prettiest of Shoes, Conspicuously Embroidered Stockings Are Worn—Some Charming Fancies Seen in City Shops.

To meet the requirements of the fashionable woman, whose faultless appearance necessitates the wearing of specially matched shoes to each gown, manufacturers offer the most alluring footwear. They realize that never before was there so great an opportunity for making money as at present. Even the most conservative dressers insist upon pretty footwear, for with the short, tight skirts an otherwise faultless costume will be ruined if the shoes are not in keeping.

Stockings are as much a factor in the scheme of dress as shoes. A few years back women disdained the thought of conspicuously embroidered stockings, but today nothing is so elaborate. For instance, a pair of dull blue suede slippers are accompanied by a pair of dull blue silk hose, elaborately embroidered in soft tones, with shaped medallions encircling a small bouquet of miniature roses. Another pair of green suede slippers, ornamented with soft colored bows and laced with ribbons of a matching color, are fastened with a

Green Suede.

Jade buckle, set in a heavy rim of dull gold and are accompanied by a pair of lacywork silk hose of the same shade. Another pair of dull green suede slippers fastened with straps over the instep have pearl buttons, and are accompanied by sheer silk hose of the same shade embroidered on the ankle with a flower and leaf design. Another pair of black and white slippers with black heels and black bows are perforated in order to show ribbons. A pair of dainty stockings with scroll design on the ankle are worn with these. Still another pair of slippers of black suede are accompanied by a pair of pale green stockings. The shoes have cameo buckles set in a dull gold rim. This time the stockings are embroidered in dull gold, in a conventional design at the ankle.

Some women who go in for the spectacular will be interested in the hose, which have gayly colored animals and insects inset with semi-precious stones. For instance, one pair of hose seen in a New York shop window was ornamented at the instep with a tiny chameleon in imitation emeralds. Another pair of hose in black silk showed on the instep a scarlet lobster embroidered with red silk thread.

Still another pair of silk hose in a dainty shade of gray had a tiny gray mouse with pink eyes. Many are the hose embroidered in flower designs, self-tones or natural colors. One pair was decked with morning glories in all the lovely shades of the flowers; another with forget-me-nots, and a third pair of black silk stockings was adorned with yellow daisies.

Buttons are Larger. One of the predominate features of the spring suits, as being shown in advanced models in Paris, is the buttons. Buttons seem to be made out of every substance—some seem to be made out of pebbles, some out of agate, and some out of amber. They are larger than ever, and long bar shapes, and balls seem to be most favored. Colors are decidedly vivid.

For the Small Room.

If you wish to write or sew, have no space for a table in the tiny hall bedroom get a board of proper size, pull out a dresser drawer, place the board on top, and you have a table without having to remove everything from the dresser. A heavy board is best, and a leaf from an extension table would be just the thing, and it could be hidden in the closet when not in use.

JACKSONVILLE AND THE REUNION

Veterans Will Find a Modern, Progressive City

Many Points of Historic Interest To Be Visited By Survivors of Gray Army During Week.

Jacksonville, Fla.—When the Confederate veterans and their friends assemble here for their 24th annual reunion, they will be introduced to a city and community, proud of the present and loyal to the ideals of the old South. Making Jacksonville the hub of a wheel twenty-five miles in diameter, a territory is covered rich in historic associations and interest and at the same time a fit exponent of all that is progressive in the Southern States. Jacksonville is a city of 85,000 population, with handsome business blocks, modern skyscrapers, commodious hotels and residence sections that compare favorably with the best in the country. The city's business has grown into large proportions, embracing every line known to a modern city. Jacksonville of today is in all respects a thriving center of trade and commerce, much of its commerce going across the seas into foreign countries on ocean steamships. Its transportation facilities are superb, both by rail and water. Railroads feeding the great Florida Peninsula center here. Thousands of tourists and uncounted tons of freight pass through the city and port every year, the one hunting health and pleasure, the other scattering out over the civilized world to do its part in supplying the demands of the consumers of the earth.

And while the visitors are enjoying this view and prospect of modern business and community thrift, they will be given an opportunity to look down the past three hundred and fifty years. All of this territory was in dispute three and a half centuries ago between the French and Spanish, with the wild Indian holding the balance of power between the combatants. The Frenchman and the Spaniard both laid claim to the Florida territory. Which was first to discover it is a matter over which historians differ, but it is well authenticated that the first white men to set foot upon the soil now covered by Jacksonville were Frenchmen under Rene Laudoniere.

The first white man to enter the mouth of the St. Johns river was Jean Ribault, in command of a company of Huguenots, who had left France because of religious persecutions. He made his landing on May 1, 1562, fifty years after the landing of Ponce de Leon at a point to the south of Jacksonville. Some historians are of the opinion that Ponce de Leon sailed as far north as the mouth of the St. Johns, but the weight of evidence is against this opinion. If he were here he left no trace. The evidence is that he did not travel in a direction from his original landing that would have brought him to the vicinity of Jacksonville. It is thoroughly established that Ribault entered the mouth of the St. Johns river May 1, 1562, and sailed up the river some miles to a bluff, where he erected a stone column on which was inscribed the arms of France. But Ribault did not ascend the river as high as Jacksonville. He went from the mouth of the river to Port Royal, S. C.

In 1664, one year after the departure of Ribault, Rene Laudoniere, who had been with Ribault on the first expedition, came to the mouth of the St. Johns with another colony of Huguenots, and ascended the river as far as the present site of Jacksonville, camping probably on the south side of the river on territory now covered by South Jacksonville. These were the first white men to penetrate the country above the mouth of the river. In honor of the day of discovery, May 1, Ribault gave the river the name of May, and this stood until the Spaniards whipped out the French, some years later. The Spaniards called it the River San Mateo at first, but later changed its name to San Juan. From this it finally became the St. Johns. Old Fort Caroline was situated at St. John's bluff some miles below the city of Jacksonville. No sign of this historic fort remains, not even a slab to commemorate its mournful story.

During the reunion, steamboat excursions will be run to all these points of historic interest on the St. Johns river. It is but twenty-seven miles from Jacksonville to the mouth of the St. Johns, where the government has constructed, with the aid of Jacksonville, and the State of Florida, a system of jetties, deepened the water on the bar and otherwise protected navigation. In passing between Jacksonville and the jetties, the visitor will have no trouble locating the sites of old forts that were erected nearly four hundred years ago by the French and Spanish. The trip is one of the most delightful in the Southern States.

While Jacksonville has not advertised itself as a large manufacturing city, of recent years many large industrial plants have been established, giving employment to 5,000 wage-earners and turning out $14,000,000 to $15,000,000 worth of products per annum. In variety of products, the city makes a showing that but few other communities can equal. New industries are secured almost every month, and the Board of Trade, one of the most active in the South, is steadily pushing a campaign for more industrial establishments.

President of Cuba Buys Great Show Mare.

Hazel Dawn, the show and saddle mare, has been bought for President Mario Menocal, of the Republic of Cuba, who will use her as his personal mount in his rides through the streets and the parks of Havana. Senor Menocal is an enthusiastic admirer of the Kentucky saddle horse, and authorized his agent, Fred Wolf, of Havana, to secure him the best specimen of this class of horse obtainable. Mr. Wolf came to Lexington and, after looking over a number of attractive horses, decided on Hazel Dawn and purchased her from her owner, W. G. Shropshire, of Winchester, for $1,500. He also bought from Mr. Shropshire the walk-trot mare, Beechwood Belle.

An Unusual Funeral.

A picture of a funeral procession which followed the body of Vito Mondago, an Italian, killed at Johnson & Briggs' construction camp, was taken just as the unique cortege reached the cemetery gate, and this will be sent to the widow and two children in Italy by the dead man's countrymen and friends as a token of remembrance of the husband and father, who met death far from home while endeavoring to provide for their comfort.

The funeral was unlike any ever held in this city. The hearse was the only vehicle in the procession and 50 Italians, fellow workmen of Mondago's, marched behind the casket. Only four persons in the procession could speak any English. The devotion which the men showed their dead comrade was very touching. —Winchester Sun.

A prudent mother is always on the watch for symptoms of worms in her children. Paleless, lack of interest in play, and peevishness is the signal for WHITE'S CREAM VERMIFUGE. A few doses of this excellent remedy puts an end to the worms and the child soon acts naturally. Price 25 cents per bottle. Sold by Wines' Drug Store.

OLD HICKORY AND SEMINOLES

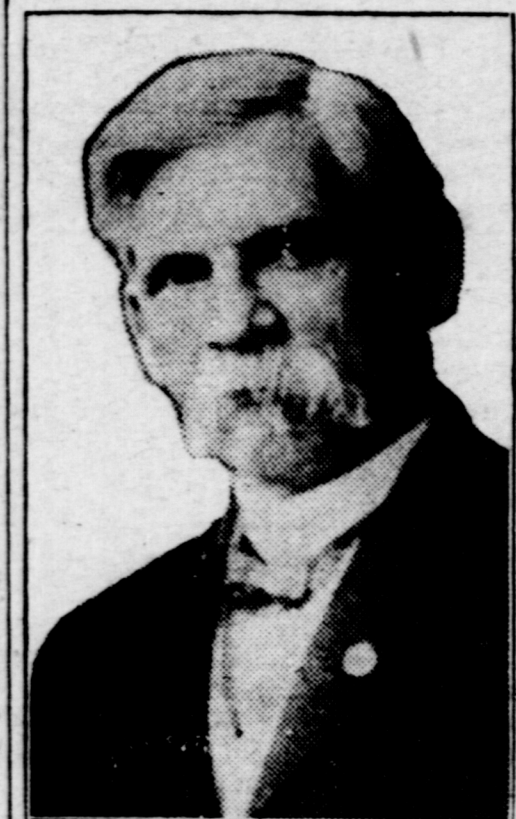

Modern Jacksonville Reverses His Memory At Reunion

Spirit of Great Man Militant in Confederate Reunion City—Why Jacksonville Was Named in His Honor.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Confederate soldiers, the world over, reverse the name of Andrew Jackson, and in view of the fact that their next reunion is to be held in the only city in the South that was named in honor of that great and brave man, his services in freeing Florida from the blight of Indian barbarism will be of interest.

Jacksonville was named for Gen. Andrew Jackson as a compliment and mark of appreciation for services he rendered to civilization in the Seminole War. There could have been no progress or civilization in Florida but for the work of Andrew Jackson. Conditions in this territory in 1818, nearly a hundred years ago, demanded the services of a brave and resolute man. Gen. Jackson was selected by the government as the one man above all others to head the movement against the Seminole Indians, who had been terrorizing the territory for several years and committing atrocities of the most brutal character.

In March, 1818, Gen. Jackson was ordered to the site of the Seminole War. He invaded East Florida, and in a campaign of less than six weeks crushed these Indians. It is related by historians that in one village, not far removed from Jacksonville, he found 300 scalps of men, women and children, many of them still fresh, hanging on a war pole. Gen. Jackson knew that the Spaniards were in sympathy with the Indians in their attacks on American settlers. After cleaning up a number of Indian villages he captured the Spanish post of St. Marks. For this act he was severely censured by his government. However, the naked fact is that "Old Hickory" was more courageous than the men who were conducting the affairs of state at Washington.

Gen. Bennett H. Young, Louisville, Ky., Commander in Chief United Confederate Veterans, who held their Reunion at Jacksonville in May.

Early in May, 1818, Gen. Jackson closed his campaign against the Seminoles in East Florida. He had completely broken their power and run them out of the territory. They caused no more serious trouble.

During his campaign in East Florida Gen. Jackson obtained satisfactory evidence that Spanish officers at Pensacola were in sympathy with the Indians. He promptly decided to march against them and teach them a lesson. The Spanish governor of West Florida, learning of Gen. Jackson's purpose, sent him a written protest against his invasion. This protest is now on file among the Jackson documents in charge of the Tennessee Historical Society at Nashville. The protest was delivered to Gen. Jackson near Pensacola on May 23, but it had no effect on that determined man. In reply he sent a peremptory demand for the immediate surrender of Pensacola and Barrancas. Jackson advanced immediately on Pensacola and possessed it. Two days later the Barrancas garrison capitulated, were received as prisoners of war and sent to Havana.

Having thus snatched both East and West Florida from the Indians and Spaniards, Gen. Jackson at once proceeded to establish a provisional government under the stars and stripes. Having accomplished this, he returned to Tennessee, then his home.

In 1822 a number of pioneers held a meeting here and decided to start the work of building a town. The village was then known as the Cow Ford, a name given to it by the Indians. After perfecting an organization, the incorporation unfurled the banner of Jacksonville in honor of Gen. Jackson, who had made it possible for white men to live here.

When the Confederate soldiers and their friends meet here for the 24th annual reunion Jacksonville will impress them with all the force of Andrew Jackson. It is now a modern progressive city of 85,000 population, one of the thriving business centers of the New South. Its varied attractions will delight all who attend the reunion, and no matter how large the crowd may be, Jacksonville will take care of all.

BELLES OF DIXIE VIE AT REUNION

Brilliant Fetes Planned For Jacksonville Meeting

May 6, 7 and 8 To Be Memorable Dates in Florida's Metropolis—Large Crowd Assured the Reunion City.

Jacksonville, Fla.—Southern social circles are again taking an interest in the great social, military and sentimental annual meeting that brings together a crowd of from 75,000 to 150,000 people to do honor to the ex-Confederate soldier—the reunion of the survivors of the Confederate armies.

The reunion is to be held this year at Jacksonville, Fla., May 6, 7, 8 inclusive. It is the first time that the ex-Confederates have selected Florida as the reunion state, and uncommon interest attaches to the meeting here and throughout the South. Owing to the comparatively early date of the reunion, the divisions, brigades and camps made their appointments of sponsors and maids early, and these ladies compose the social side of the reunion. They are known as the official ladies of the meeting, entertained as such, and courted by the entire social fabric of the South.

The Sons of Confederate Veterans, following in the footsteps of their fathers, maintain organizations in every Southern state, and hold their reunions on the same dates. They appoint sponsors and maids of honor. The two organizations, closely allied, therefore, send to each Confederate reunion several hundred official ladies, selected from the best families of the South, that stand high in the social scale in their communities.

Mapping out a social program, therefore, for a Confederate reunion is a task that demands the best of talent in the entertainment line. There must be dinners, receptions, balls, trips to points of interest around the reunion cities and anything else in the line of social entertainment the committee may devise. The crowning event of the week in society, however, is the annual ball for maids and sponsors. If the reunion is held in a city where a hall large enough to accommodate several hundred dancing couples at once can not be secured, a dancing pavilion is constructed for the occasion. This pavilion consists of a large canvas tent, well floored and lighted; it is also supplied with comfortable seats on the grandstand order, where several thousand spectators may witness the ball. If a reader has not seen one of these annual balls at a Confederate reunion he has but limited idea of its size and brilliancy. Nothing to equal it in splendor can be seen in the United States, unless it be the inauguration ball at the national capital, now fallen into social desuetude. If the inauguration ball is put out of the contest, the annual ball of the Confederate reunion, at which the maids and sponsors hold sway, is the greatest social function of the United States.

The social side of the Jacksonville reunion will be participated in by representatives of all Southern States, the border states and a few western commonwealths. There are sixteen state divisions of the United Confederate Veterans' Association, as follows: South Carolina, North Carolina, Virginia, West Virginia, Maryland, Louisiana, Tennessee, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Georgia, Kentucky, Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and Arkansas. Each state sends large delegations of young women to the reunion, selected with regard to their social standing at home. In addition to the state delegations, the commander-in-chief has his own official ladies, chosen from the South at large. There are three departments, known as the Army of Northern Virginia department, Army of Tennessee department and Trans-Mississippi department. Each department appoints maids and sponsors and sends them to all reunions. The scope of country covered by these many organizations has about half the population of the United States; hence, the interest in a Confederate reunion is always widespread. Society circles in all of this territory are interested in the Jacksonville reunion, and the event will bring here one of the largest crowds of young people ever assembled in the South. Florida appeals to the young, because of its flowers and its wonders—its poetry, its songs and its attractive history. Rivers and ocean, gulf and bays have interest all their own. The palm and the pine, live oak and holly, and a hundred other forest trees that abound throughout the state as nowhere else on the continent, invest Florida with an interest as wide as the nation. Greater interest attaches to the Jacksonville reunion than to any recent meeting of the Confederates, and preparations are being made to entertain a large crowd of people in May.

The population of Jacksonville is about 85,000. The assessed value of taxable property is $58,000,000. Twelve years ago it was but $13,000,000, showing an increase of more than 400 per cent for the period. The municipal tax levy is 11.5 mills, one of the lowest in the country.

Jacksonville's bank clearings for 1912 were $168,422,388. Aggregate bank deposits approximate $22,000,000. Number of banking institutions, 16.

A Risky Contract.

Judge Graham, in a Chicago court last week, decided against Charles Meyerhofer, the plaintiff, in a suit to recover the engagement ring from Helen Hoagland after she had cruelly given him the "shake." The judge ruled that "man gives an engagement ring at his own risk; if he loses the girl, he also loses the ring."

Food From Trees.

The pecan tree bids fair to rival the vine as an encourager of imaginative literature. The average prospectus of pecan plantations seems to be the joint product of a gas factory and a table of logarithms. In one breath the sucker is told of the enormous crops which this tree will yield, and in the next of the profits of selling that crop at 50 cents per pound.

One might as well be told of a new variety of wheat yielding 100 bushels per acre, and then figure returns on the basis of $6 per bushel. But the world-old relation between big crops and low prices does not trouble the pecan promoter.

In spite of fakers, the legitimate pecan industry is growing and deserves to grow; and one writer on that topic dropped a prophecy which has a chance of coming true. This is the prediction that some day humanity will get its chief food from trees.

It will take many centuries to fulfill that prophecy, but history is working that way. As population increases, food production must be raised in proportion; and trees will yield more food per acre than is possible for grain. Also, it would save much labor, capital and uncertainty to have a crop that need be planted only once or twice a century, instead of every spring or fall.

No nut crop is known that will take the place of wheat or rye. But the search for such a substitute has already begun, and with time enough, should succeed. More than one department of agriculture will be burbanked in the next few generations, and why not this? —Chicago Journal.

Do Not Let Fat Burn.

The unpopularity of fried food in many families is due entirely to the fact that the fat has been burned in cooking. Fat when heated too high a temperature splits up and may thus form substances which have an irritating effect on the throat and may cause digestive disturbances.

Fat in itself is a very valuable food, and if it is not scorched, should prove a healthful rather than an objectionable article of diet. A slightly burned taste and similar objectionable flavors can often be removed from fat by putting into it thick slices of raw potato and heating it gradually. When the fat ceases to bubble and the potatoes are brown, the fat should be strained off through a cloth placed in a wire strainer.
